

Figure 20.1 The UDP echo service as an example of the client-server model. In (a), the client sends a request to the server's IP address and UDP port. In (b), the server returns a response.