

Figure 21.3 Illustration of the difference between library routines, which are bound into an application program, and system calls, which are part of the operating system.