

Figure 28.4 An idealized interconnection of SDN controllers on a separate management network. Management applications on the controllers use the management network to coordinate with one another.