Figure 16.1 (a) The TCP sequence space when urgent data arrives before all normal data, and (b) the same sequence space after urgent data has been processed and additional normal data has arrived. The space occupied by urgent data forms a hole in the space.